Tuesday, April 1, 2014
12:30 - 1:30 p.m. • Lunch will be served beginning at noon
Touro Law Center, Faculty Conference Room (FCR)
A networking social will follow from 1:30 - 2:00 p.m.

Topic: The first of three panels showcasing the breadth of land use and sustainable development careers on Long Island, this panel will introduce students to a number of high-profile development projects on Long Island. These projects implicate land use law, real estate law, construction law, and state and local government law, as well as environmental law (to be discussed at the second panel) and fair housing law (to be discussed at the third panel). Come learn about the role lawyers play in the community revitalization projects that literally shape where we live and work.

Panel: The panel will include developers as well as representatives from local planning agencies and other municipal representatives from the Towns and Villages of Babylon, Brookhaven, Islip and/or Patchogue.

Co-sponsors:
- Land Use & Sustainable Development Law Institute
- Career Services Office
- Real Estate Law Society

You MUST register for this event through Symplicity: https://law-touro-csm.symphlicity.com/students
(click on the “Events” tab toward the top of the page and choose this event).